Artist Dossier - January 2026

Artist Statement

My practice is grounded in painting and expands through drawing, modular works, and image-based processes. Across different bodies of work, I explore the space between abstraction and figuration, where form, color, and structure suggest presence rather than fixed representation.

I am interested in how images are perceived and completed by the viewer, how fragments, silhouettes, and gestures can evoke identity, memory, or movement without fully defining them. Painting functions both as an intuitive act and as a process of construction, allowing each work to develop its own internal logic. Some works exist as autonomous entities, while others are conceived as modular compositions that can be arranged in dialogue with space.

Materials and supports are chosen in relation to the conceptual needs of each project, from canvas and paper to acrylic glass and aluminium. Rather than focusing on technique, my work emphasizes physical presence, surface, and the relationship between the image and its environment. Through these explorations, I seek to create works that remain open, inviting interpretation and perceptual engagement.

Bio

Begoña Lafuente is a contemporary visual artist based in the Netherlands. She studied Fine Arts in Madrid and began her professional career in the 1990s, working as a graphic designer, art director, and illustrator. This background continues to inform her artistic practice, where visual structure and intuition coexist.

In 2009, she relocated to the Netherlands, where she became actively engaged with the local and international art scene. Her work moves between painting, drawing, and image-based processes, combining organic forms and geometric structures in a visual language that oscillates between abstraction and figuration.

Lafuente's practice explores perception, presence, and the construction of meaning through color, form, and composition. Her works have been presented in exhibitions and art fairs in Europe and are held in private collections in Europe and the United States. She currently works from her studio near the North Sea.

Open Composition

Painting

Painting forms the core of my practice. I approach it as a space for experimentation, where intuition and construction coexist.

Some works are conceived as autonomous entities, developed through gesture, color, and layered composition. Others explore modularity and spatial relationships, allowing painting to extend beyond a fixed format and engage with its surrounding context.

Semi-Abstract Portraits

Ephemeral Essence Diaries

Acrylic Glass and aluminium

This body of work explores portraiture as a space between abstraction and figuration.

Faces emerge through fragments, silhouettes, and color fields, suggesting identity as something fluid rather than fixed.

Instead of describing specific individuals, these portraits function as visual diaries, where perception and emotional resonance complete the image.

Living Geometry

Living Geometry brings together works where geometric structures interact with organic presence. The compositions balance order and intuition, allowing form, color, and rhythm to generate a sense of vitality within structured systems.

Conceived as physical wall works, these pieces explore how geometry can remain dynamic and responsive, engaging with space while maintaining a strong visual autonomy.

Whales' Singing, 2026
Acrylic Glass and aluminium
75 x 50 cm. Edition of 6

Dreaming Giraffe, 2026
Acrylic glass and aluminium
Variable scale

Scannography

Acrylic Glass and aluminium

Scannography explores the image as a trace rather than a representation. Using scanning processes as a means of capture, these works register objects and fragments directly, emphasizing contact, distortion, and time.

The resulting images exist between photography and abstraction, where the act of scanning becomes a performative gesture and the surface records a physical encounter rather than a fixed view.
